Free throws in final seconds win it for Grayling, 50-49

There's 32 minutes of clock time in a varsity boys basketball game. On Tuesday night, in a battle of Lake Michigan Conference teams, Elk Rapids led Grayling for more than 30 of those 32 minutes, but the Vikings rallied in the fourth quarter to win 50-49.

"We played an outstanding fourth quarter and our kids showed a lot of character down the stretch. Our free throw shooting was outstanding. Zane Tobin showed great poise in hitting two free throws with 4.7 seconds left," Coach Rich Moffit said. Page 10

Grayling students go Shop With A Cop

The Crawford County Deputy Sheriff's Association sold their total inventory of 200 Christmas trees and took 24 students on a Shop With a Cop excursion last Thursday at the Grayling Kmart. After picking up some winter wear, clothing and fun items, the youth were treated to a pizza party and given food baskets from the Grayling Eagles Ladies Auxiliary to take home to share with their families for the holidays. ## Grant sought for I-75 interchange

by Dan Sanderson
Staff Writer

The Grayling Charter Township Board of Trustees pledged to pay for a brunt of the cost requested from the township to study building a full I-75 interchange at North Down River Road, but urged road officials to seek funding from other townships to help solve a 50-year transportation issue.

The Grayling Charter Township Board, last week, agreed to pay $20,000 toward environmental and engineering studies needed for a grant application to obtain funds to build a full I-75 interchange.

The Crawford County Road Commission is applying for a Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery (TIGER) grant through the U.S. Department of Transportation.

If approved, the county would receive $22.8 million to build a full interchange at North Down River Road. The grant would require no local funding match, which enticed local officials to take a shot at getting the funds.

"We had to take a chance," said Don Babcock, manager for the Crawford County Road Commission.

The grant application, however, does require an environmental assessment, engineering studies and a traffic study.

The Crawford County Board, the Crawford County Road Commission and the City of Grayling have already pledged funds to help with the $128,600 in cost needed for the work.

The Grayling Charter Township Board had pledged $25,000 toward the project, but was unclear if the funds had to be paid until it was confirmed that the grant was a sure thing. Babcock came to address the misunderstanding last week.

"We're kind of late in the process to be throwing a bill at us," said Grayling Charter Township Trustee Shawn Kraycs said.

The TIGER grants are competitive, because the funding goes above and beyond transportation funds given to states and regions annually. The grants target projects in communities that are economically distressed.

Babcock said that I-75 interchange at North Down River Road has been dysfunctional ever since the freeway was extended through the area in 1961. Creating both northbound and southbound access at the interchange would help with economic growth, emergency services, the military and the AuSable Artisan Village, Babcock said.

Grayling Charter Township Treasurer Cindy Olson said money could come from a township improvement fund to help fund the studies. Township officials also planned to check guidelines for funds it receives from the U.S. Forest Service to determine if it could also be used for the project.

"It's an excellent project and it will help in so many ways," Olson said.

Babcock agreed to approach other township boards to see if they could help fund the remaining $5,000 since the project would benefit the entire county.

"We all have a stake in this," Babcock said.

Discussions about area ambulance services will continue

High costs come in when ambulances are staffed around the clock and at peak call times, which occur in the early afternoon in Crawford County.

"Operational costs are going through the roof and reimbursements are going down every day," Holtcamp said.

Holtcamp said that there is not the volume of 911 calls and transfers available to sustain two ambulance services.

"It just simply can't be fragmented anymore," Holtcamp said.

In November, the Frederic Township Fire Department and EMS approached the Grayling Charter Township Board, with a proposal to provide ambulance services in the township. Grayling Charter Township Supervisor Rick Harland stressed that no decisions have been made and that discussions over ambulances services are still ongoing.

Under the proposal, Frederic Township and Fire EMS would bill the health insurance of the patient for a 911 call. In addition, the township would offer a $49 membership fee to Grayling Charter Township residents for ambulance services. The membership fee would cover emergency calls and inner facility transfers from the hospital to the patient's home, a nursing home or another hospital.

MMR operates under the same billing practices and also provides membership fee opportunities.

Frederic Township EMS Service became Advanced Life Support (ALS) accredited, which is the highest accreditation an ambulance service can achieve, this year. Chief Doug Pratt said it was his goal to become ALS accredited when he assumed command of the department 11 years ago.

The Frederic Township Fire and EMS Service is supported by a millage levied in its service area, which includes Frederic and Maple Forest Townships. It also covers a portion of Lovells Township.

Beaver Creek Township, the City of Grayling and Grayling Charter Township do not have a millage to support ambulance operations.

Pratt said his department has four ambulances that are ALS equipped and accredited. He pledged to have two ambulances staffed 24 hours a day in the Grayling area, while another ambulance would be manned in Frederic Township. The fourth ambulance is equipped with jaws of life equipment and other specialized gear for rescue for vehicle extrication.

Pratt said the Frederic

Township Fire Department and EMS can provide comparable service in Crawford County, just like other services in surrounding counties with the same or less resources.

"To say we can't do it is a gross understatement,"

Pratt said.

Holtcamp said the county could lose $720,000 in payroll that MMR pays its paramedics as well as fuel and supplies purchased locally. Further, MMR provides emergency dispatch services from Saginaw to people who are assisting a person in cardiac arrest, a woman having a baby or in other medical emergencies.

Pratt said Crawford

County dispatchers are already providing medical information to callers, could receive enhanced training and would be able to transfer calls to dispatchers in surrounding counties with little investment.

"I believe our dispatchers are very adequate in doing what they are supposed to be doing," Pratt said.

Grayling Charter Township Trustee Dennis Long said local officials owe it to the community and the dispatchers to get the extra training and technology.

"It seems like a very minor cost when you are dealing with the lives of people," Long said.

Some residents were concerned that they will be left without an ambulance service if Grayling Charter Township splinters off in a deal with Frederic Township.

"We're getting thrown in a trick bag by these people and we'd better stand up to it," said one resident, who did not identify himself.

Grayling Charter

Township resident Donna

Brown, who is a trainer for the Gerrish Township EMS Service, said Frederic Township should be given a chance to provide services to local residents.

"I want a person who cares about that human, cares about that patient and that cares about that family," Brown said.

An equalizer emerged at the township in the form of Doug Paulus, who has 40 years of experience in the EMS field as a paramedic, manager and trainer.

Paulus said there would be plenty of opportunities to slice the pie among EMS services, especially as Baby Boomers begin needing more medical treatment.

"There is a ton of business out here and if we can get our heads together, it's only going to grow," Paulus said.

Long requested business plans from MMR and Frederic Township and asked Paulus if he would be willing to review the documents. Paulus agreed to take on the task for the community.

"A good business sense has got to rule," Paulus said.

Pratt said Frederic Township would not seek a renewal for its millage to fund EMS if an agreement could be reached with Grayling Charter Township.

Grayling Charter Township Trustee Shawn Kracys, who is the undersheriff for the Crawford County Sheriff's Office, said he is always ecstatic when local officials propose to cut taxes.

Ambulance services will next be discussed again at 10:30 a.m. on Tuesday, Jan. 3, at the Crawford County Courthouse. County, city and township officials are slated to meet to go over potential options. Next, a public hearing will be held at 10 a.m. on Wednesday, Feb. 15. The location of the meeting has yet to be identified because county officials want to find a venue large enough to accommodate all of the people interested in the topic.

"Our concern is that everybody is covered," said Dave Stephenson, chairman of the Crawford County Board of Commissioners.

Chief Ernie Windolf, from the South Branch Fire Department and EMS, said mutual aide agreements between local and departments from surrounding counties, should be taken into consideration.

Windolf said that those agreements have worked to ensure services are backed up when there are wildfires or emergencies like the 125 car pile up that occurred north of Grayling in January 1998.

"We take care of our own," Windolf said. "We bounce back and fourth and we take care of each other."

Lovells Township Clerk Cynthia Infante said lowering the tax burden and living within the means of budget dollars available is the way to go.

"We need to find a way to do it with the money that we have," Infante said.

Layaway angels help brighten the holidays for children and families

by Dan Sanderson

Staff Writer

Anonymous donors, dubbed layaway angels, helped make the Christmas holiday better for families by paying off final bills at the Grayling Kmart.

Donors came into Kmart stores across Michigan and nationwide to pay the balance on layaway accounts, which allow shoppers to pay for purchases over several weeks.

The phenomenon started earlier this month, when a woman paid off three layaway charges at a Kmart store in Grand Rapids. Media coverage by heavy hitters such as USA Today, the Washington Post, Yahoo and MSNBC, prompted others to follow suit.

"It started downstate and it went rampant," said Jodi Goodhue, the store manager for the Grayling Kmart. "It was a humbling experience."

Earlier on, Goodhue said a couple, who were traveling through Michigan, headed up the mystery donors, while in Lapeer County near Flint. As they neared Grayling, the urge to give to others had bitten them.

"They just pulled off the expressway and they just came in," Goodhue said. "They knew no one in Grayling. They were just passing through town and thought it was a great idea."

The couple planned to pay on a few layaway purchases each, but ended up paying on a dozen and half accounts before they left the store.

"They got to playing and giggling and going back and fourth until finally they paid 16," Goodhue said. "It was amazing."

Three days before Christmas, an anonymous angel made a difference in Grayling from thousands of miles away. A soldier, fighting the war on terrorism in Afghanistan, asked his mother to pay on a layaway account rather than sending gifts overseas. The military mom went to pay on one account, which had already been paid off. A couple from Mio was waiting behind, and wanted to make a payment on their account and put some merchandise back on the shelves.

The military mom paid off the couple's account, and then the couple made the payment they had planned on another layaway purchase.

Josh Paquette, an assistant manager at the Grayling Kmart, said the trifecta of giving was a real tear jerker. "She just wanted someone to pray for her son," Paquette said. "It was just pure joy and happiness."

The Mio couple, Rebecca and Mike Thompson, had gifts in layaway for their six children.

"It was greatly appreciated and it's just absolutely amazing that people would do something like that," Rebecca said.

Paquette, who has worked 13 years for Kmart and nine as a manager, said he has never seen anything like the anonymous angels.

"I think it's wonderful," he said. "I think it is uplifting and it renews faith in humanity. It's what the season is about."

Most of the donors asked to pay off accounts for layaway accounts, which included toys and items for children.

"Right to the end, people were asking for what they could pay on," Goodhue said. "They did not want to pay on clothing or other items. They wanted to make sure it was all for the kids."

Eric Goscicki and his fiancee Andriane Lester, were informed that their layaway balance was paid off a week before Christmas. Most of the items were gifts for their son Eli, who will turn 2 in March.

"We were excited when they told us," said Goscicki, who works at Stephan Wood Products and part-time at the Grayling Kmart. "It helped us because we had a lot more Christmas shopping to do. We were very thankful for it."

Paquette and Melissa Klimas, an assistant manager at the Grayling Kmart, boxed up layaways and took them to the doorsteps for shoppers for three final layaways. Employees were unable to reach the shoppers over the phone to inform them of the good deeds.

Paquette said delivering the holidays gifts was heart wrenching.

"We loaded them up in the car and went and delivered them," Paquette said. "That was really cool. We saw smiles, we saw tears and we saw people bewildered because they could not believe what was happening."

About $500,000 in layaway balances were paid off at Kmart stores nationwide, and donors came forward to pay off $5,000 at the Grayling Kmart.

Goodhue, who has worked for Kmart for 33 years, said a few layaway accounts were paid off last year, when the company made the option available again to shoppers. Besides giving to Toys for Tots or the Crawford County Sheriff's Deputy Association's Shop With A Cop program, Goodhue said she has never seen anything like this in her tenure in the retail business.

"In all my years at Kmart, I've never seen anything to this magnitude," she said.

Almanack

by Richard Milliman

Some interesting things I learned by reading newspapers

VOTERS SWITCHING – I see by the newspapers that American voters are a transient lot these days.

USA Today reported that more than 2.5 million voters have left the Republican and Democratic parties in the last three years, and now identify themselves as Independents.

Twenty-eight states register voters by party.

In Michigan, voters are registered as voters and not as party members, and we do not register by party to vote in general elections.

However, in primaries – which are functions of the Democratic and Republican parties, although conducted by the state election process – the parties may require voters to declare for one party or the other to receive that party's ballot.

In the newspaper analysis, Republican registration fell in 21 states and Independents grew in 18 states. Democratic registrations fell in 25 of those 28 states.

It should be noted that overall, Democrats lead in party registration with more than 42 million signed-up voters to 30 million Republicans and 24 million Independents ... but the Democratic lists are down more than the Republican lists.

The USA Today analysis also showed that in eight states the newspaper considers "key to next year's presidential race" Democratic registration is down 800,000 and Republicans are down 325,000 registrations.

All of which means, I guess, that in general American voters are not completely satisfied with what either party is attempting to do to (or for) our country, and are not really enamored of any of the top candidates in either party.

It also could mean the time is ripe for non-affiliated candidates in offices ranging from president to drain commissioner ... which could screw up 2012 election results all over the place.

The trend seems to reinforce the consistent public polling that more and more voters are unhappy in general with how governments – which are run by folks these same voters have elected – are performing, which also explains why politics is so confusing this year.

MORE WOLVES – I see by the newspapers that the wolf no longer is considered an endangered species in Michigan.

The US Fish and Wildlife Service has decreed that as of January 27, 2012, Michigan wolves may be killed if they threaten cattle, dogs and other domestic animals ... and I suppose, human persons, too.

Because of a slackening population, wolves were reintroduced into the Upper Peninsula – and also into northern Wisconsin – in the 1980s, and the wolf population has grown to the point where the two states now have an estimated 1,400 wolves, including 131 packs in the U.P., reaching almost seven times the original wolf goal when reintroduction began.

Some wolves are sighted in the Lower Peninsula, but most inhabit the U.P. Gogebic County, which abuts Wisconsin in the western Upper Peninsula, has the highest density of wolf population in the country.

The wolf still is not a game animal, and hunters are not permitted to just shoot them at random, but only in case of endangering livestock or other domestic animals. Wolves are estimated to kill about 25,000 deer annually in Michigan.

PLASTIC BAGS – I see by the newspapers that the city of Seattle is banning plastic bags.

As of July 2012, the single-use plastic bag, used by many shoppers for groceries and other smaller purchases in the retail field, will no longer be permitted.

The new law also provides a five-cent charge paper bags, designed to encourage shoppers to bring their own non-plastic, non-paper bags.

The purpose, of course, is environmental. The ban is designed to reduce pollution and curtail need for landfill space.

According to the Associated Press article I read in the newspaper, folks in Seattle use 292 million plastic bags and 68 million paper bags a year, but only 13 percent of the plastic bags are recycled while 82 percent of paper bags are recycled.

Seattle attacked the plastic bag problem a few years ago with a 20-cent fee on paper and plastic bags, but the fee was rejected by voters in a referendum.

Several other local governments have fees or bans for merchandise bags, including Washington DC, Los Angeles County and San Jose, Calif., Portland, Ore., and Bellingham, Wash.

Sounds like a good idea to me. I usually carry my own fabric bags for grocery shopping when I remember them, but not when shopping for other merchandise. I suppose I could adapt. I also recycle glass, newspapers, cardboard and most other appropriate items.

Plastic waste does indeed endanger the environment.

And those are just a few items I have learned from reading newspapers in recent weeks.

Happy New Year!

Giving back to your community through Big Brothers Big Sisters

As communities, we are brought together by need. Towns reflect our needs and try to meet them by providing shelter, safety and access to services. Most important of all is our need to connect with other people. Doing so not only provides us with the bare necessities but also enriches and provides meaning to our lives. Besides our parents, we all had someone in our lives that made us feel special and important as children. Feeling valued has a profound effect on other aspects of a child's life. The self-esteem generated by bonding with a role-model who is consistent and supportive improves other relationships in the child's life, improves the quality of their schoolwork and builds bonds which strengthen our community.

Of all the connections that we make in our community, few are more important than bonds formed of friendship. For the past 39 years, Big Brothers, Big Sisters of Northcentral Michigan has been committed to helping adults and young people build those key relationships. By matching adult mentors with compatible children we seek to build lasting friendships between Bigs and Littles. With the self-esteem and emotional support provided by these relationships, BBBS has found that Littles are 46 percent less likely to use illegal drugs, 52 percent less likely to skip school, be more confident in their school work and improve relationships with their peers and family. Participating in our site-based or community based programs are an easy way for mentors to make a huge difference in the life of a child from their community.

To be a mentor with Big Brothers Big Sisters does not require any special skills or background, only a desire to serve your community every week. In our community based program, meetings between Bigs and Littles don't have to be a special occasion or feature an expensive activity. For as little as an hour per week it is an opportunity for mentor and mentee to spend time together, whether by sharing a meal, a story, or a pickup game. Site based programs provide another opportunity for students to meet with mentors, albeit at school during the school day. The Lunch Buddies programs is a chance for community members to share a meal and then an activity with students during their lunch hours, once a week. The Bigs in Schools programs provides high school students in Rich Moffit's Psychology class the chance to be mentors at Grayling Elementary and AuSable Primary Schools.

The value of this to the child cannot be underestimated and the role that you played in their life will always be remembered. If this is a way you would like to give back to your community, please call Kathy Holmes, at 989-732-7780 or visit the Big Brothers Big Sisters website at bbb-nsmi.org to learn more.

To the editor:

"Back in the day it was the way." Old 27... Now days it only takes one trip on Old 27, north of Frederic, to realize that it is no longer the way. Same goes for 612 both east and west of Frederic in Crawford County. There are numerous accidents every month due to the poor road conditions. Cars wrecked, power lines and mail boxes taken out. It's only a matter of time till lives are lost. Too bad something can't be done before it's too late.

Survival show featuring Grayling brothers debuts

Enter the minds of Chris and Casey Keefer as they show you how they survived 28 days in Alaska's back-country in the Sportsman Channel original production, Dropped: Project Alaska presented by Realtree®.

The Keefers, who are from Grayling and gained the love for hunting whitetail deer in area woods, were dropped in a remote part of Alaska where they had to pit their skills as hunters, woodsmen and anglers against an unforgiving landscape.

Produced in conjunction with Rusted Rooster Media and InterMedia Outdoors, the original series premiered exclusively on Sportsman Channel, on Tuesday, Dec. 27, with a special, one-hour episode.

"The Keefers are perfect for this show - they shared the network's desire to do something that would be truly monumental in outdoor TV. What is a better way to do that than by creating a real-life journey of survival set amongst some of the most stunning scenery in the world?" said Greg Trager, vice president of programming and production for the Sportsman Channel.

When the Keefers were "dropped" in September, viewers were able to follow their daily progress via their satellite phone and SPOT messaging system. Their messages were posted on

Sportsman's Facebook: <http://facebook.com/SportsmanChannel> and on Realtree's page: <http://facebook.com/Realtree> Outdoors.

"We are using those SPOT messages and video snippets the Keefers shot themselves to provide our viewers a more rounded experience of what they didn't see during the series," Trager said.

The Keefers began their float with only 100 pounds of gear on each of them. They had no provisions in their backpacks - all their gear was for catching, trapping or killing their food and then preparing it.

"We are bringing our fans face-to-face with the reality of eating only what you can kill," said Casey Keefer. "This was a true test of mind, body and soul - and you'll see from our journals and behind-the-scenes footage we'll share, that it was beyond anything we expected."

As they winded their way over 110 river miles of the most perilous and game-rich country in the world, the brothers attempted to spot and stalk caribou, moose, black bear and wolf - armed with only a bow. Plus, viewers will see these die-hard bowhunters fly fish.

"Many people will tell you their show is unlike any other - but honestly, this show is unlike any other. What outdoor TV producers purposely try to survive for 28 days in the wilderness?" said Chris Keefer.

The 11-episode series will culminate with a finale on March 13.

VA Medical Center receives accreditation for special programs

The Aleda E. Lutz Veterans Affairs Medical Center in Saginaw, announced that they have received a three-year accreditation from the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities (CARF) for programs that provide care and service to Veterans in Blind Rehabilitation, Compensated Work Therapy, and those participating in Veteran Homelessness initiatives.

What does this mean for veterans and their families? It will assure them the programs follow designed guidelines and regulations, promote the quality and compliance in the type of service provided that veterans deserve, and there is heightened accountability through monitoring of data and reports to ascertain their health and well-being is optimized because of this level of accreditation.

"In November 2011, we completed our inaugural CARF accreditation survey. This was the first time we had ever gone through this type of survey and there was a great deal of work involved by many staff throughout the medical center to get prepared for this review. While the surveyors were here, they commented on the many positive findings and the good outcomes they saw throughout the programs. CARF options at the end of the survey were:

accreditation, one year accreditation, or three year accreditation. When we finished the out-briefing, we knew we had done well, but they could not give us a final report at the time of their exit. The word came on Dec. 21 that the Aleda E. Lutz VAMC has been fully accredited for three years," stated Ms. Denise M. Deitzen, Medical Center Director.

"That is the longest accreditation span we could possibly receive and it is not common to receive a three year accreditation the first time out. What does that mean for us? It means once again, VA staff have been recognized for the excellent care and service we deliver to the Veterans who walk through our doors," said Deitzen.

The Mission of CARF is to promote the quality, value, and optimal outcomes of services through a consultative accreditation process centering on enhancing and improving the quality of life for those persons served, in this case, United States Veterans.

Accreditation with CARF is recognized internationally, and assures the public of the VA Medical Center's commitment to continuous improvement of organizational management, service delivery, diversity and cultural competence, and acknowledging active participation with all persons served.

The Bible Speaks

Joy in God's Kingdom

The last blessing identified with God's kingdom in Romans 14:17 is Joy. "17For the kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost." "The birth of Jesus Christ was announced with joy in Luke 2:10: "10And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people." Later in Matthew 2:10 the wise men rejoiced with exceeding great joy to be led to find Jesus.

Notice all the blessings of God's kingdom are spiritual for those "...in the Holy Ghost." This required a new birth in the Spirit by faith in Jesus Christ as Jesus taught in John 3:5,6: "...Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. 6That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." Acts 13:52 reminds us that being filled with joy and being filled with the Holy Ghost are synonymous. "52And the disciples were filled with joy, and with the Holy Ghost." Romans 15:13 confirms this truth: "13Now the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the Holy Ghost." Galatians 5:22 also verifies this fact: "22But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith." "6And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost." (1 Thess. 1:6).

In 1 Peter 1:8 knowing our Lord Jesus Christ by faith is the greatest source of joy: "8Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory." In John 16:22 Jesus promised His disciples possession of His joy even during sorrow "22And ye now therefore have sorrow: but I will see you again, and your heart shall rejoice, and your joy no man taketh from you." In John 16:24 Jesus promised us joy through prayer in His name: "24Hitherto have ye asked nothing in my name: ask, and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full." In John 17:13 Jesus prayed to the Father to give us joy through His words: "13And now come I to thee; and these things I speak in the world, that they might have my joy fulfilled in themselves." "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full." (John 15:11).

Willing souls to Jesus Christ brings great joy even in Heaven. (Luke 15:7). Jesus anticipated this joy as He died on the cross for our sins. (Hebrew 12:2). In Acts 15:3 declaring the conversion of the gentiles "...caused great joy unto all the brethren." In Hebrews 10:34 even persecution did not destroy joy: "34For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance." 1 John 1:4 teaches us the joy of reading God's word: "4And these things write we unto you, that your joy may be full." John taught us in 3 John 1:4: "4I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth." Our future hope and joy is Matthew 25:23: "23His lord said unto him, Well done, good and faithful servant; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord." # MFMFC holds fifth annual luncheon with Santa

The Michigan Firemen's Memorial Festival Committee (MFMFC) held a special lunch date on Dec. 16 with Santa. It was his fifth annual trip to the fire training grounds to be with the children of C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District.

The children, along with staff, were together with Santa for lunch and other goodies prepared by Michigan Firemen's Memorial Festival Committee. Much of the food prepared was donated by either individuals or businesses in the area. Any food that was not donated was bought by MFMFC.

MFMFC also bought presents for each child making sure that they received a gift off an earlier submitted Christmas wish list. Each child also received a new hat and some gloves to prepare them for the winter.

After singing Christmas carols, visiting with Santa, opening gifts, and decorating cookies with Linda

The Michigan Firemen's Memorial Festival Committee held a special lunch date with Santa and the children of C.O.O.R. Intermediate School District on Dec. 16.

Goodale from Goodale's Bakery, the children returned to school.

The members of MFMFC have, this year, elected to tighten their budget. By doing this, they have been able to put programs like this on, plus have increased donations to other organizations in the community that help the less fortunate in our area.

Help for homeless veterans

Homelessness should not be one of the problems facing veterans returning from deployment or older veterans later in their life. However, statistics show approximately one in 10 of the nations homeless population are veterans.

Jason Allen, director of Michigan's Veteran's Affairs Directorate is reaching out to those in need by encouraging veterans to discuss their benefit eligibility with their county Veteran Affairs office or veterans service organizations.

"Many Michigan veterans don't realize there are potential grants available through the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund to help families in need. This funding is specifically set aside to help eligible wartime service veterans. As director of Veteran's Affairs, I want to ensure veterans to learn about and apply for the benefits created by federal and state law. By contacting a county Veteran's Affairs office or veterans service organization they can receive application assistance for these benefits," said Allen.

Almost every county in the state has a Veteran's Affairs office. The county counselors and veterans service officers are knowledgeable about the programs available and rules for application.

"There are great services out there for our veterans. If you are a homeless veteran in need, please pick up the phone and dial our national call center for homeless veterans at 877-424-3838," added Allen.

For more information about county offices visit the Michigan Veteran's Affairs web site at www.michigan.gov/veterans and follow the link for "County Contacts for Veterans" on the left side of the page. You can find contact information about veterans service officers at the same web site by choosing "Federal Benefits" and selecting "State Service Officers" from the drop-down menu.

For more information contact the state Veterans' Affairs Directorate at 517-335-6523 or email to dmva-webmaster@michigan.gov.

Vikings trail for 30 of 32 minutes, rally late vs. Elks

by Caleb Casey
Senior Staff Writer

There's 32 minutes of clock time in a varsity boys basketball game. On Tuesday night, in a battle of Lake Michigan Conference teams, Elk Rapids led Grayling for more than 30 of those 32 minutes, but the Vikings rallied in the fourth quarter to win 50-49.

Grayling, the home team, scored the first basket of the game with a lay-up by Riley Zigila following the contest's tip-off.

Elk Rapids scored the game's next 10 points, hitting two three-pointers and two two-point baskets. Elk Rapids' triple at the 6:14 mark put the Elks in front, and they maintained an advantage – at times in double figures – throughout the match until the game's final seconds.

Grayling scored nine points total in the first quarter with Zigila's lay-up, a drive by Steven Enos, two free throws from Zigila, and a three-pointer by Jake Swander.

Elk Rapids led 17-9 going into the second quarter.

Grayling wasn't able to pull any closer than five points from Elk Rapids' lead in the second period. The Vikings scored 16 points in the quarter with an inside shot by Enos, two free throws from Enos, a triple by Enos, a lay-up by Devon Dawson, a three-point play by Thomas Burrell, two free throws by Zane Tobin, and two free Rapids scored. Burrell hit an inside shot to pull Grayling back within two. The Elks scored the next four points to lead by six, 49-43, with 3:01 remaining in regulation.

Tobin hit a three-pointer at the 2:45 mark to cut Elk Rapids' lead to three. Enos scored on an inside shot with 55 seconds remaining, cutting Elk Rapids' advantage to one point.

Elk Rapids turned the ball over on an offensive foul.

Tobin drove to the basket and drew a foul with 4.7 seconds left in regulation. He hit both free throws, giving Grayling a one-point edge – the team's first lead since early in the first period.

The Elks got the ball in bounds and shot from near the three-point line at the buzzer. The shot didn't go in and Grayling won 50-49.

Enos finished with 15 points. Tobin and Burrell each scored nine points. Zigila had six points and Swander had five.

"Elk Rapids got off to a fast start and we were forced to play a style that is not advantageous to our team.

Varsity squad pulls away in 2nd, 3rd quarters, wins 69-48

Victory at Gaylord improves basketball team's record to 4-1

by Caleb Casey

Senior Staff Writer

Grayling High School's varsity boys basketball team won 69-48 vs. the Gaylord Blue Devils in a nonconference game at Gaylord on Thursday night.

It was close after one quarter, but the Vikings pulled away in the middle two periods, outscoring Gaylord 41-18 in the second and third quarters combined.

Grayling scored its 17 first period points with a three-point play by Devon Dawson, a drive by Steven Enos, a triple by Enos, an inside shot by Griffin Dean, and free throws from Zane Tobin, Jake Swander, Thomas Burrell, and Dawson.

Gaylord led 13-5 at one point, hitting two three-pointers in the first four minutes of regulation, but the Vikings outscored the Blue Devils 12-1 in the last 4:26 of the first quarter.

Grayling extended its lead with a 10-0 run to start the second period. The series included two triples by Enos, a put-back by Dean, and drives by Enos and Tobin. The Vikings scored eight more points before half-time with a put-back by Scott Parkinson and free throws from Wes Dean, Tyler McClanahan, Tobin, and Swander.

Grayling led 37-25 at half-time.

The Vikings dominated the third quarter, outscoring the Blue Devils 21-7.

Burrell hit two inside shots. Tobin hit a triple at the 5:59 mark. Tobin drove to the basket for two. At the 5:20 mark, Burrell hit an inside shot for the first two points of what would eventually be a 12-0 run. The series also included two free throws from Burrell, two baskets by McClanahan, a put-back by W. Dean, and a lay-up by Parkinson.

The Vikings had a 58-32 advantage going into the fourth quarter.

Grayling edged Gaylord 11-10 in the final eight minutes of the game, scoring 11 points with a lay-up by McClanahan, five free throws from Enos, an inside shot by Louis Menard, and a drive by Parkinson.

Grayling won by 21, 69-48.

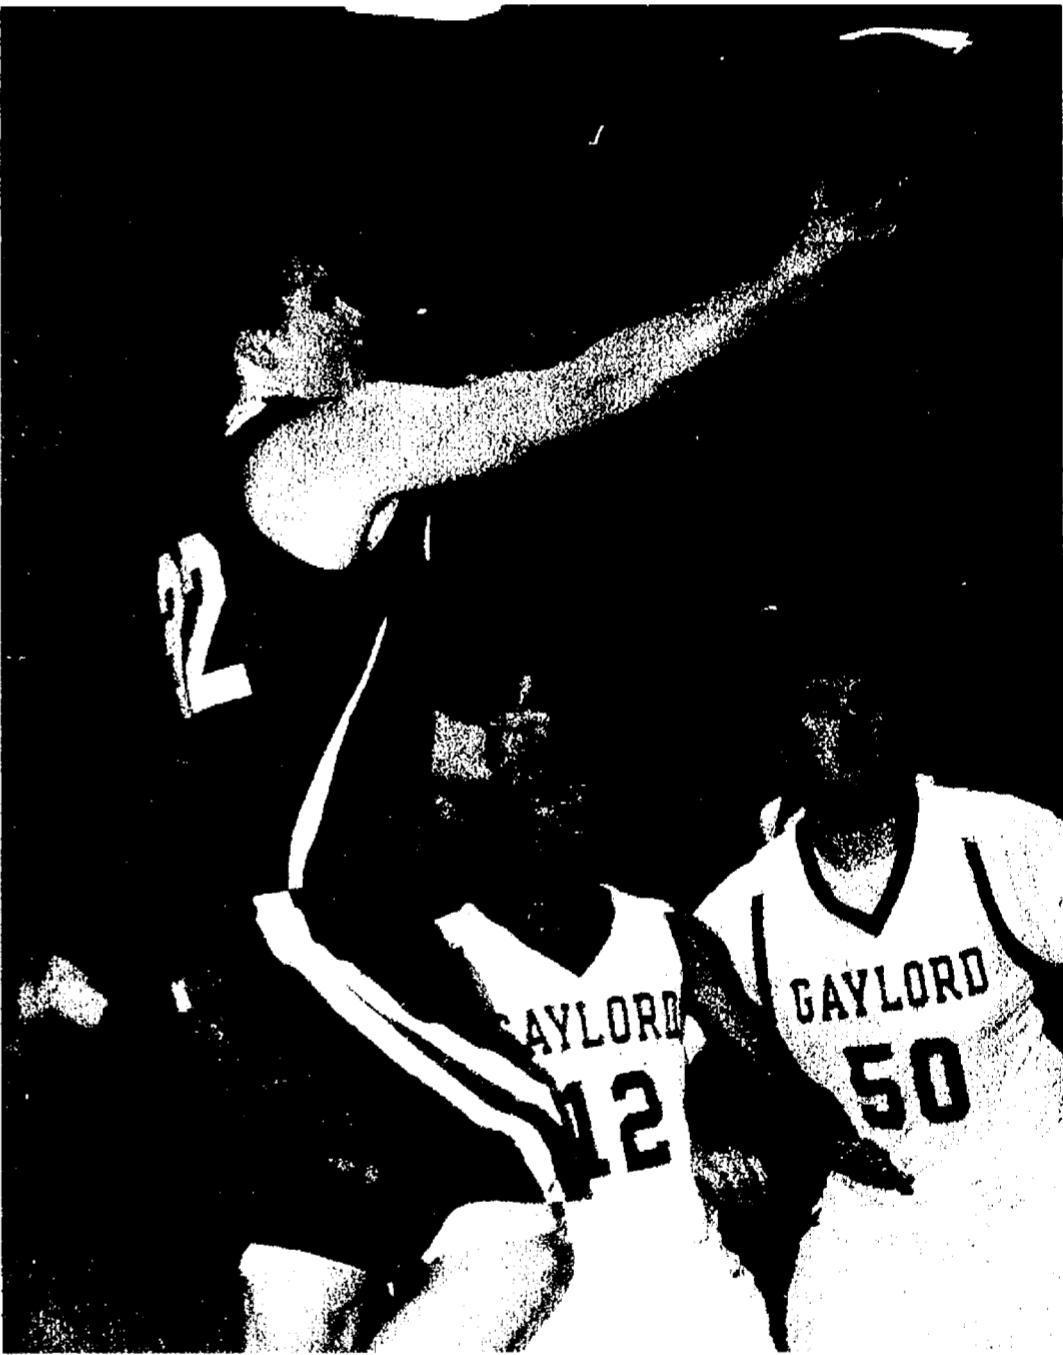

Ten different Vikings scored at least two points in the contest. Enos finished with 18 points, 12 rebounds, and five steals. Tobin had 10 points and eight rebounds. Burrell also had 10 points and eight rebounds. McClanahan had eight points and eight assists. Parkinson had six points and seven steals.

"Very pleased with the enthusiasm and effort that our team played with tonight. We did an outstanding job of running our transition break and moving the ball to the open man. Defensively, we forced 30 turnovers and I was pleased with our intensity," Coach Rich Moffit said.

"We had a number of players contribute tonight. Our interior players - (Steven) Enos, (Griffin) Dean, (Thomas) Burrell, and (Wes) Dean - played well defensively and hit the boards hard," Coach Moffit said. "I was impressed with our perimeter players' defensive pressure. (Tyler) McClanahan, (Devon) Dawson, and (Scott) Parkinson did a nice job of applying pressure. McClanahan and (Jake) Swander did a good job of managing the game from the point guard position. Zane Tobin was solid. Enos was outstanding with his work on the boards."

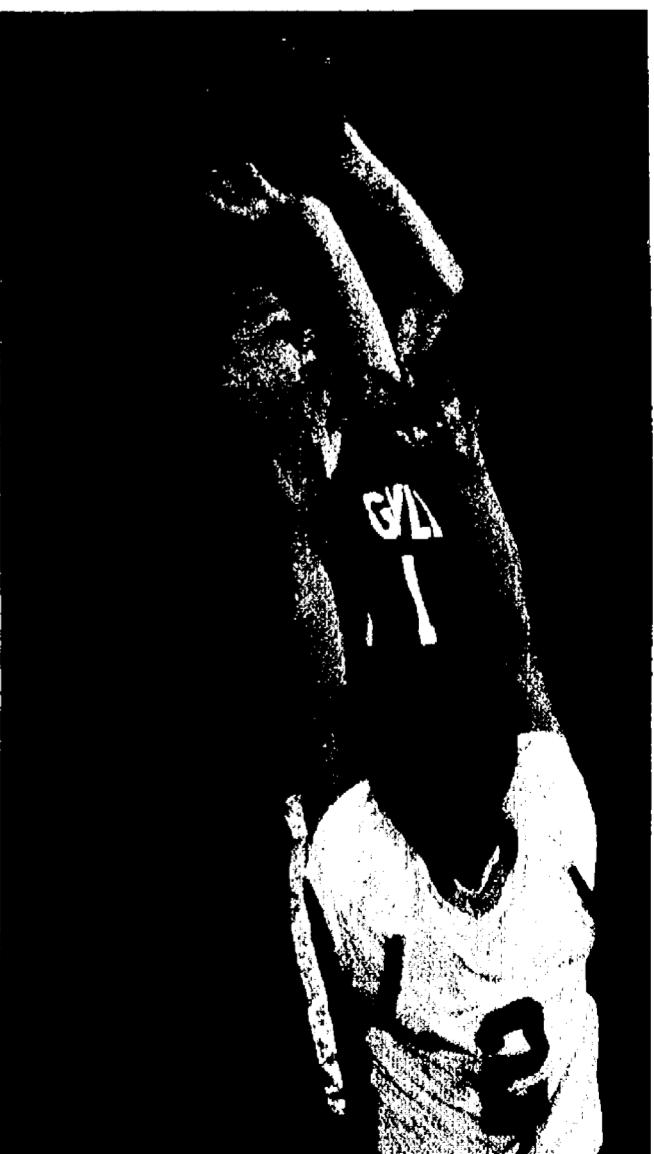

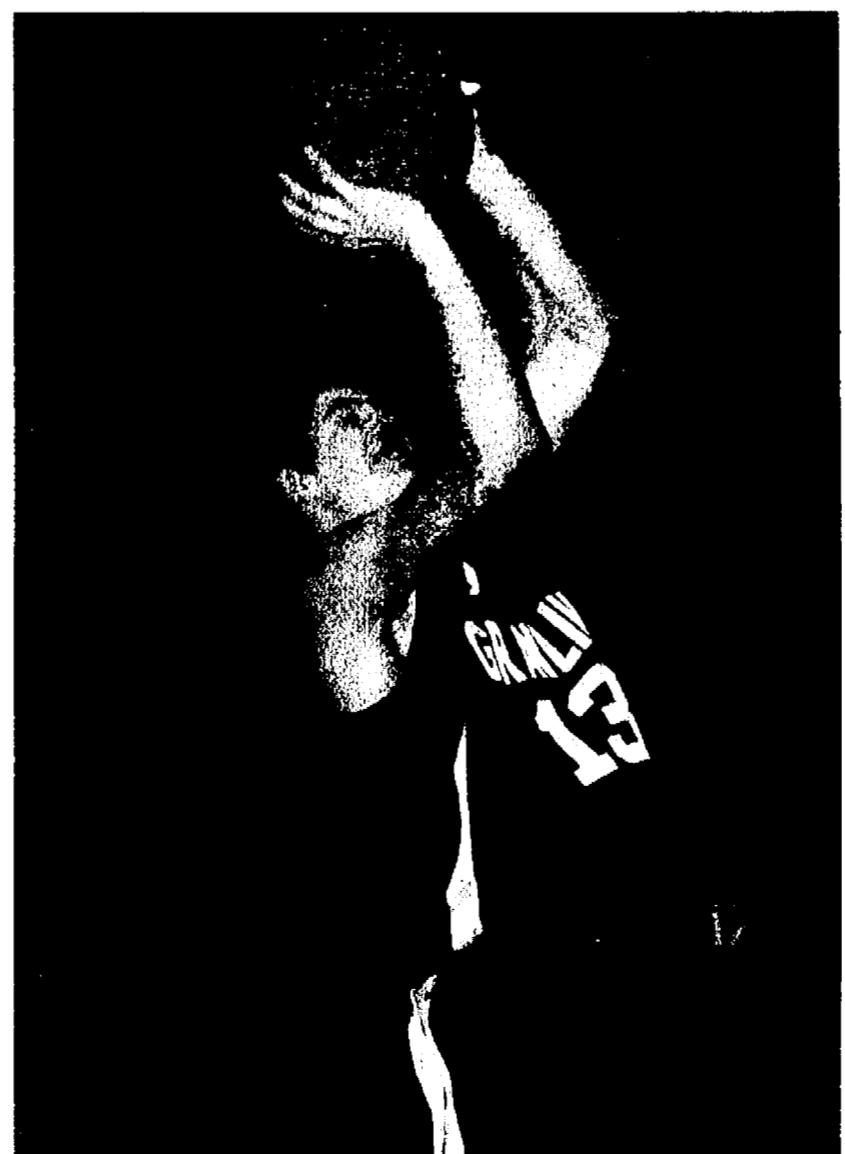

The victory improved Grayling's overall record to 4-1.

Vikings fall to Elk Rapids in league road game

The GHS varsity girls basketball team lost 63-54 in a conference road game at Elk Rapids on Tuesday night.

"Elk Rapids was a very good team. Our girls played them very tough, fighting back from being down 15 points in the second half to cut the lead to six; however, we weren't able to get any closer," Coach Joe Powers said. "I was very proud of the effort the girls showed and they fought to the very end."

"We had very good defensive pressure that caused quite a few turnovers and gave us great quality shots. Since Elk Rapids was much taller than us, the story of the game was rebounding. We had a difficult time matching up with their height, which led to a lot of second chance opportunities for them. We tried to negate their size advantage by making the game full court," Coach Powers said.

"We didn't shoot real well from the free-throw line either, only making 13 out of 30. If we could have made a few more free throws it would have definitely tightened the game."

Jo Hamlin had 16 points, 12 rebounds, and six steals for Grayling. Cierra Prosser had 14 points, eight rebounds, and four steals.

Alyssa Morley scored seven points and Josie Swander scored six. Caitlin Prosser had five points and six rebounds.

"We played a very good team on their home court very tough. We're looking forward to seeing them again on our court," Coach Powers said.

On Thursday night, the Vikings lost 67-29 in a non-conference game at Gaylord.

Hamlin had 10 points. Hailey Whittaker scored seven points. Caitlin Prosser, Cierra Prosser, Jamie Denton, Rachel Cooper, and Morley also scored points for the Vikings.
